ELEVENTH-HOUR SUFFRAGE RUSH.Action Urged at Once to Let All Women Vote.*Amendment Must be Passed Before February 20.*So that Ballots may be Cast in Primaries.

BY ROBERT E. ARMSTRONG.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—With the prohibition amendment in effect at midnight, leaving the suffrage amendment the only one now waiting for final action, suffragists point out the difference between the ratification of these two amendments.

The ratification of the prohibition amendment extended over a period of one year and eight days. The National Woman's party leaders are campaigning in an effort to secure the ratification of the suffrage amendment before February 20, the birthday of Susan B. Anthony. If this effort is successful the ratification will have been accomplished during eight months.

"So far, the suffrage amendment has been ratified much more speedily than prohibition," says a statement issued by the National Woman's party. "Twenty-five States within the past seven months have ratified suffrage, while only thirteen ratified the amendment during the first seven months for the passage of the prohibition amendment."

NINE ELEVEN NEEDED.

The prohibition amendment defeated in the Senate during the last month of the ratification campaign in January, 1919, when twenty-nine states added their names to the list, was ratified the next day. Only nine more States are needed to secure the ratification of the suffrage amendment. Suffragists have still another month in which to work to complete the task.

"We are, therefore, anxious to have the suffrage amendment ratified as soon as possible.

Various points of difference in the campaign to ratify the two amendments are also pointed out. The prohibition amendment was before the Senate Legislator during the year when most of those were in session. The suffragists have been forced to call for special sessions in many cases, since comparatively few State legislatures are in regular session this year.

The first group of States to ratify prohibition were largely southerners, while the last group to ratify the suffrage amendment were mostly western.

WANT NOVEMBER VOTE.

The latest date for the ratification of the suffrage amendment, if all the women of the country are to participate in the Presidential primaries is February 20. The last date to permit them to register for the November election is May 1.

Paul, spokesman of the National Woman's party, called attention to these dates, urging prompt action from all Legislatures now in session, and from those on the part of the women to secure special sessions in other States.

Completion of ratification by the February date will be facilitated by suffrage votes taken during primaries, equivalent to the actual election. It is also pointed out that a voice in the choice of the candidate will be secured as a vote for the final outcome.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 16.—The Federal amendment for women's suffrage was introduced in both houses of the Indiana Legislature, meeting in special session here today. In the Senate the vote was 45 to 3 and in the House 80 to 0. Indiana is the second-state to ratify the amendment.DE KOVEN, COMPOSER OF OPERA, IS DEAD.*END COMES SUDDENLY AFTER DINNER PARTY IN HOME OF CHICAGO FRIEND.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Stigmar de Koven, American opera composer and conductor, died here early today of apoplexy.

Mr. De Koven graduated from Oxford in 1910 and studied music in Stuttgart, Florence, Paris and New York. Besides writing music, he wrote several novels on various New York publications.

Mr. De Koven, who has been here for several weeks supervising the production of his opera, "Rip Van Winkle," was staying with his widow at the home of Mrs. Jacob Fischel when he became suddenly ill. He died within a few minutes. The body was given to the medical school of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. De Koven had been with her husband until three days ago, when she returned to their home in New York. A funeral service was held in New York.

Mr. De Koven was the founder of the Washington Symphony Orchestra, of which he also was the conductor. He had written a number of operas and also had written various music for orchestra and piano. He also had written a large number of songs, including "Oh Promise Me" and "A Dreamer."

Among De Koven's best-known operas are "Rip Van Winkle," which had its premiere in Chicago; "The White Slave," "The Mandarin," "Her Little Highness," and "The Wedding Trips."

De Koven was born at Middle-town, Conn., April 2, 1882.

HOLDEN REMAINS AS REGIONAL DIRECTOR.

187 A. P. NIGHT WIRE:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Hale Holden, director of the central western region of the Railroad Administration, today notified the Railroad Administration that he will remain as president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf and the Colorado and Southern railroads. Mr. Holden justified his willingness to continue his services as regional director, however, until return of the railroad properties to private control. Director-General Hines said, that their difficulties will soon be overcome and that a representative of the great American republic will occupy the place among us. The work of the Council will then assume definite character and will have that particular form which should be associated with our work.

January 16, 1920, will go down in history as the date of the birth of a new world. Decisions to be made in the League will be the basis of all nations adhering to the covenant of the League. It will be the first decree of all free nations uniting themselves together for the protection of the world, to institute right for might. But the organization of the League of Nations will not be complete until the assembly of all the states members.

Baron von Britton, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and that nation's representative on the Council of the League, said:

"On behalf of the British Empire, we are greatly honored by my appointment as Commander-in-Chief of the British Crown to the spirit underlying the covenant of the League of Nations. It is our duty to see that the League has power to insure its practical efficiency. It is our firm belief that through its instrumentality alone we can hope to insure that such measures as are proposed will be adopted in time for you shall not be repeated, and that a new era of international relationship shall dawn."

A GOOD AUGUST.
The League of Nations is an expression of the universal desire for saner methods of regulating affairs of state, and of the international cooperation which practical effect may be given the principles of international friendship and good understanding.

Washington is a good base for the future of the League of Nations. For the first time an attempt was made to bring together under the auspices of the League representatives of labor and capital, and an advance exceeding the results of the entire work of the previous quarter of a century in the field of international action or industrial organization.

All MEMBERS PRESENT.

All the members of the council called for by the covenant of the League with the exception of the representatives of the United States. President Wilson, however, has called the meeting to order. Besides M. Bourgeois the members were Earl Curzon, the British Foreign Minister for Great Britain; Prince Venizelos for Greece; Carlo Ferraris, Italian Ministry of Industry, Commerce, Labor and Food; for Italy; Sir George Grey, for Australia; Minister for Belgium; Baron Moutet, Ambassador to France; for Japan; Dr. Gaston de Chiffre, Ambassador to Mexico; Count Quintones de Leon, Ambassador to France; for Spain.

Sir George Grey remained. He was invited to speak, and then demanded a roll call on a formal action, which was lost by a vote of 2 to 2.

A motion by Senator Pittman that Secretary Daniels be allowed to speak was voted down at once. Rear-Admiral Sims informed his testimony also was defeated.

MEDALS A BOTHER.

Admiral Sims said medals were only a source of trouble, and the service in general would be glad if all could be withdrawn and the government "cut off" square with the League.

A motion by Senator Pittman that Secretary Daniels be allowed to speak again was voted down at once.

Rear-Admiral Sims informed his testimony also was defeated.

CHEEK OPENING SESSION.

Premier Venizelos, without rising, recited the proceedings by nominating M. Bourgeois for chairman, Lord Curzon seconded the nomination and M. Bourgeois carried it. After speeches by M. Bourgeois and Lord Curzon, Sir Ferraris, on behalf of Italy, said his nation had urged that the League be without a permanent secretary-general.

The Foreign Office of the League of Nations was the first to be established, and the League was the first to be accepted. He added that among the duties of the League would be to give attention to the high cost of transportation, the exchange of diplomatic corps, and the cost of international finance.

Ambassador de Chiffre, for Brazil, said the League would be well served with respect to the work of peace and fraternity among the nations. His referred to the fact that he was the only representative from America to be present, and said he was not surprised nor annoyed. He added that among the duties of the League would be to give attention to the high cost of transportation, the exchange of diplomatic corps, and the cost of international finance.

Failure to recognize this, Admiral Sims said, "was an effort to be destructive to the morale of the navy, which is already shot to pieces."

Admiral Sims had verbal bills with Senator Pittman, particularly Senator Pittman, which caused laughter among the spectators.

"We people who have worked all our lives in the navy know that what we do is right and what we do not right," Admiral Sims said, "and that it will be necessary to consult the United States on a great many questions likely to arise."

IRISH PROTEST.

The council of the League of Nations received the first formal protest to be presented to it, and it was from the Foreign Office. The document was signed by the Secretary and recommendation made by commanding officers was absolutely without justification," continued the admiral.

"In this case," he said, "it is the only one who knows what each officer did."

Failure to recognize this, Admiral Sims said, "was an effort to be destructive to the morale of the navy, which is already shot to pieces."

England and Australia Finish Day Upsticks.

First-Round Play in Davis Cup Championship.

Contests are to Continue Today and Monday.

INT CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

SYDNEY (Australia) Jan. 16.—England and Australasia broke even here today in the first round of the Davis cup tennis matches for the world's team championship. Gerald L. Patterson, the Australian raquet star, defeated his English opponent, the veteran, A. H. Lowe, three games to two, in the first set, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 and 6-4. In the other single match Lieut.-Col. A. F. R. Kinmonth was won from the youthful Australian expert, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Play will continue Saturday and Monday, with two singles and one doubles match still to be decided. The English team, however, plan to make a strenuous call for four singles and one doubles match, with the winner to capture three of the five contests. The English team is defending having won the international trophy from the United States at Forest Hills, N. Y., in the matches of 1914. England won the right to play in the Davis cup competition by winning the preliminary round from France, Belgium and South Africa in 1919.

Today's games were played before 600 people in an intense heat. Patterson made a splendid showing against Lowe, putting up fine play. He also had good fun playing in the games of the fashion. The Kinmonth-Australias match proved a runaway victory for the master cricketer against a neophyte.

WIRED FAKE STORY OF GUNNER DEPEW'S DEATH

PHOENIX CHIEF OF POLICE HAS BOGUS HERO IN JAIL, ADMITTING HOAX.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PHOENIX, Jan. 16.—The Phoenix City Jail has a distinguished tenant tonight in an individual who claims to be Gunner Depew of wide celebrity as a hero and author.

Chief Grubbs expresses belief that the real man is not what he claims the fellow is, but his guest cheerfully admitted that he was the author of another, who telegraphed a thrilling account of the death of Gunner Depew at Maricopa. The alleged Depew is dressed in sailor uniform, blue jacket and white shirt. He has a number of medals, and a watch he claims was given him by Ambassador Gerard after the two had occupied the same speaking platform in Boston.

Word has been received from Lieut. A. R. Carven of the war information bureau that Depew has traveled to the Pacific Coast, recently from the French and American. He has a number of medals, and a watch he claims was given him by Ambassador Gerard after the two had occupied the same speaking platform in Boston.

He was wanted in Tucson for the theft of a typewriter, according to a wire received here, but the charge was dropped, based on the bullet being thrown upon an associate. The man states he has a wife in Santa Barbara, but a woman in Iowa has served in deep affliction concerning his whereabouts.

The man is to be held for further information. He is wanted by Federal authorities, who have been appealing for some time, but who appear to have fastened nothing upon him.

The man has a number of medals and crosses, claims to have been decorated from the French service in 1917, and to have been gamed on the battle front.

WHAT'S DOING TODAY:

READS PSALMS, KILLS HERSELF.

Mother Writes to Daughter, "See no Other Way Out."

Says She's Penniless; "They Won't Let Me Stay."

Census Man Finds Body as He Goes to Take Count.

After reading two verses of the Bible and then writing a note to her 15-year-old daughter, Mrs. Ida Simmons, 35 years old, of 221 West Morel street, shot herself through the head with her husband's revolver in the sitting room of her home last night. The body was taken to the coroner's office in another room. Coroner Hartwell will hold an inquest tomorrow.

The suicide was discovered by Gilbert W. Johnstone, a census enumerator who called at the members' home to count the members of the family late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Johnstone rang the bell several times, and when he obtained no answer, peered around the window of the living room. He saw Mrs. Simmons lying on the floor, shot through the head. Mr. Johnstone summoned Deputy Sheriff Hots and Bright, who broke into the house and found Mrs. Simmons dead, with the following note addressed to her daughter, beside her:

"Mildred—Love of my heart, I can see no other way out. I have no money to go and there won't let me stay. I have just read the fifth and sixth chapters of Psalms. In them I seem to have found comfort. Read them, Mildred, and believe in the Lord, and be a good girl. May your life never be as mine has been. I forgive my enemies, if I have any. Give my love to poor old mother. Farewell to you, my love, my all."

"MOTHER—My love to Prentiss. Also to take it."

The daughter and her father, V. E. Simmons, a milk wagon driver for the Burr Creamery, said they knew of no motive for the suicide. Mr. Simmons said that he had given his daughter $50 yesterday morning before he went to work, and that she had appeared in good health, and had never seemed despondent. Prentiss, mentioned in the note, is Miss Sherman's fiance, according to Deputy Sheriffs Hots and Bright.

ATTORNEYS PLAN FOR NEW RE-TRIAL FIGHT.

JURY'S RECOMMENDATION THAT HE BE GIVEN MENTAL TEST TO BE BASIS OF PLEA.

Attorneys for the defense in the case of Harry S. New, convicted of second-degree murder for the killing of Freda Lawlor, bashed themselves yesterday with preparations for the fight for a retrial, application for which will be made before Judge Craig.

Reports that an affidavit had been obtained from one of the jurors to the effect that the jury was swayed by prejudice and disregarded evidence, was not made public. It is regarded as certain that the jury's recommendation that New be confined in an institution for observation as "3 sanity will be one of the points upon which great emphasis will be laid in the defense in its plea for a new trial.

Judge Craig, however, has indicated that the law cannot be regarded as superior to the evidence and must therefore be disregarded.

The District Attorney's office is preparing to file any effort to save New from the legal penalty of from ten years to life in the penitentiary.

PLAN BIG EXPENDITURE.

Highland Park Presbyterians to Erect a Fine Building; Other Church Notes.

Members of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church will soon be worshipping in a modern three-story temple, to be built at a cost of $50,000, upon the site of the present auditorium at Avenue 55 and Pasadena Avenue. This information was given out yesterday by Dr. Campbell Coyle, pastor, following an enthusiastic meeting of the 1,000 members of the congregation. Arthur G. Linday, architect in charge, stated that the proposed auditorium will seat 1,200. Other features will be a large social hall, a handsome modern kitchen, a complete equipped modern kitchen, a number of modern restrooms, a number of modern restrooms, a church school.

Officials of the church stated yesterday that half the building fund has already been pledged and that additional pledges have been made so that the entire sum will have been subscribed. The actual construction of the edifice will be started within the next few weeks.

The Highland Park Presbyterian Church, which was founded about twenty years ago, was an outgrowth of Occidental College. The members now are scattered throughout the Occidental Academy building, whereas the Sunday-school classes were compelled to use the old stable for a class room. Twelve months ago the present church was "erected" and, while many additions have since been made, the building is inadequate for the ever-increasing membership. Dr. Coyle, who on the first Sunday in February will begin his fifth year's pastorate, will preach tomorrow morning on the subject, "The Church That Hideth Not Its Light."

At the annual service, Dr. Donaldson, financial secretary of Occidental College, will give a stereopticon lecture on "The Trail of the Cross in the Rockies." The messenger, the official organ of the church, will be printed every month, was printed and distributed among the members yesterday for the last time.

NEW ASSISTANT FOR DEAN MACCORMACK.

Following the resignation of Rev. David Todd, as assistant rector of St. Paul's, the Cathedral to accept a call to an Episcopal church at Stanford, Cal., the members of St. Paul's yesterday elected Rev. J. MacCormack, assistant rector of St. MacCormack. He will preach his first sermon at the church tomorrow night.

Donaldson, who is a graduate of King's University, Nova Scotia, and the Wykeoff Theological College, Toronto, came to Los Angeles from Halifax, in which city he was in charge of Trinity Episcopal Church. Before leaving, Dr. Donaldson tendered his resignation to his church, which the officials and members of the congregation refused to accept, granting their pastor, instead, an unlimited leave of absence.

"I am inclined to think that my family and I will remain here indefinitely," said Mr. Donaldson yesterday. "Naturally, we are delighted with the climate and the beauty of the Southland."

Mr. Donaldson, who is presently living in Pasadena, but will remove to Los Angeles as soon as he is attempting to house tourists, but it is the girl who is working in Los Angeles that they aim to assist him in finding a home which will be considerably more livable and at a rate within the limits of her salary.

MAYOR TO SPEAK AT TRINITY CHURCH.

A "Law Enforcement" program has been arranged for at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, south tomorrow evening. When Mayor Snyder will speak on the Church and the Law, followed by Dr. Clegg, who will be followed by Police Commissioner R. T. Burke, who will talk on "Law Enforcement in Los Angeles." Many leading men have promised to be present, among them being U. S. District Judge Trippet, Collector of Internal Revenue, Sheriff, City Attorney, State Auditor, Judge Mayes and Chief of Police Hensel. Tomorrow morning Dr. Ira Landrith will give

THE PUZZLE.

Why not build a barb wire fence around Russia, cut off all communication and leave the country alone for a year? Then an Allied commission might be sent into the country to give the survivors such recognition and support as seemed warranted.

SOMETHING ON FOOT.

The National Shoe Retailers' Association wants to form a vigilance committee to police the shoe trade in connection with the Department of Justice and prevent profiteering. Now if the shoe wearers would furnish a vigilance committee to vigilantly vigil the vigilantes there would be some sense to it. Otherwise the spectacle of the shoe men watching each other to see that no overcharge is made might incite merriment.

INFANT HORRORS.

The State Superintendent of Education makes protest against the use of the schools in the campaign to raise funds for the people of Turkey and Armenia. The children are fed tales of horror to inspire their interest until their young minds are made morbid. It really would be a bright idea to bring the public schools back to their original mission and the Superintendent should be able to help some in the doing. More power to his elbow.

THE YELLOW BOYS.

The people of Cuba are also wearing the purple of prosperity. They are beginning to spend the proceeds of their $750,000 sugar crop, which amounts to a sum, even when divided up. They do say that they are building a couple of hundred $50,000 houses in Havana. Next year American millionaires will be wanting to rent these while they renew acquaintance with the highball habit. But they do say that Cuba is suffering from unexampled prosperity and that its pernicious spread is largely due to American prohibition. It is the yellow fever, but in its golden form.

GOLD AND THE SEA.

The activities of one of that glorious company of great spirits who would make gold out of sea water have been under suspicion in the community. This genius had the machinery working fine until a sudden stamp in the Japanese current resulted in a diversion or loss of more than 50 per cent. of the gold. After that production seemed unprofitable. Here would seem to be another matter for Senators Phelan and Johnson to add to their score against the Japs. Every time we build a machine to extract gold from our broad and beautiful ocean the Japanese give another twist to their current and leave us high and dry. Seems as if the Mikado must come out with his vacuum cleaner and swipe the whole business. It is wrong to spoil a good thing like that. Everybody knows that gold is very scarce, while sea water is about the most plentiful thing we have. Therefore when a genius creates an apparatus which turns sea water into gold he is developing an industry well worth while and one which is calculated to even make Wall street sit up and take notice.

To have the enterprise wrecked or merely imperiled by this mean Japanese current assumes the proportion of a tragedy. What does the League of Nations propose to do about it? Isn't there some way in which Senator Johnson can be given the mandate over the Japanese current and thus spare some of our financiers from the atrocities of labor?

WOMEN'S ACT SIGNIFICANT.

It is becoming apparent that some others besides profiteers benefited by the war. Some people have had a suspicion that the main result was to compel them to pay more for everything they need. But there have been some other consequences.

The cruelty and dishonesty of those who have plundered and continue to rob the public is but an unhappy side effect of the struggle.

Among those who have gained a measure of freedom through the great conflict are the women of Egypt. From the land where Moses was discovered in the bulrushes by a princess comes the news that the inmates of 500 harems have held a meeting and passed a resolution demanding complete independence of Egypt. When one recalls the pre-war tales of how deviously women kept within the harem walls and how they were supposed to be nothing but toys for men this mass meeting takes on much significance. Next thing we know there will be Wednesday Morning and Saturday Afternoon clubs for the women of Cairo and they will be discussing to whom they will throw their support for Cadi. The British may as well make up their minds to quit Egypt.

When the women say they must go they must and there's an end of it. But, speaking seriously, the action of the Egyptian women should not be lightly dismissed by the British government. There were only 500 at this meeting, but the feminist movement will grow in Egypt as it has grown in India and as it grew previously in the United States and Great Britain itself.

Practical politicians never overlook the influence of women. But there are many reasons for believing the politicians of Great Britain are not practical.

NOT PRESENT.

America paid dearly yesterday for the scission between the executive and legislative departments of the Federal government. The historic ceremony of founding a League of Nations to promote and guarantee the peace of the world took place in Paris; and the United States, greatest of all the free peoples of the world, was the only free nation not represented.

Leon Bourgeois, French statesman and diplomat, is the first President of the League; a place that had been reserved for President Wilson but had met with the same success in negotiating peace as the heads of the other Allied governments. M. Bourgeois said only a few weeks ago that it was unthinkable that the American people should repudiate their own Constitution, which has come to be regarded as the most important governmental document in the world. And, in the opinion of M. Bourgeois, it was a repudiation of our Constitution when we declined to take part in the movement to form an international alliance along similar lines.

STATEMENTS OF OTHER COUNTRIES.

The statements of other countries are not yet able to conceive that the government of the United States shall continue as a house divided against itself to the extent of declining to join in what Earl Curzon aptly termed "an expression of the universal desire for saner methods of regulating affairs of mankind."

In his address on assuming the Presidency of the League M. Bourgeois expressed the disappointment of the delegates that the first session might not have been presided over by President Wilson; but he had only courteous words for America. "We respect the reason which still delay final decision by our friends in Washington," he said, "but we hope that their difficulties will soon be overcome and that a representative of the great American republic will occupy the place awaiting him in our midst."

While it was within the purview of the assembled delegates to give to another country the seat in the Supreme Council that was reserved for the United States, there was not even a discussion of such procedure. The peoples with whom we were lately engaged in war cannot believe that this country will refrain from joining them in solving the problems of peace. But it is significant that a delegate from Brazil felicitated the League on the part taken by the free countries of North and South America, and that Brazil is openly a candidate for the seat on the Supreme Council that was reserved for America.

It would be well for some of those who have been swayed by the emotional appeals of the "bitter-enders" to consider soberly for a moment what will become of our Monroe Doctrine, as far as it applies to South America, when all those South American republics are protected by the League of Nations and when this country alone will have no voice in its sessions. If America is to continue its policy of isolation there is no denying the fact that we must either be resigned to passing into a decadence similar to that of China or that we must build an army and navy sufficient in size to give us some measure of protection against the powerful nations that will be leagued against us on the first controversial question that arises.

It is difficult to believe that President Wilson can be so blind to what is taking place in the world as not to realize the absurdity of the position in which he is placed by his own supreme obstinacy. Each of the other Allied powers that helped to win the world war has expressed itself willing to accept the reservations for which a majority of the Senators voted when the treaty was rejected. A word from the President signifying a willingness to accept those reservations would have assured ratification two months ago. President Wilson, regarded by the world as the founder of the League, is responsible for that fact that his own country is not a part of it. He has succeeded in converting Capitol Hill into another Mount Moab; and it is possible that it will not be until he, like Moses, passes from office that his people will be able to enter into the Promised Land. And it is interesting to recall that it was because of his own shortcomings that Moses was not permitted to enter. We wonder if President Wilson finds his conscience clear when he sees the League of Nations, by which he set such store, beginning to function with Japan on the inside and our own country outside.

We have friends, fortunately, within the League. France is displaying a grateful spirit for the part we took in repelling the German invasion by keeping the door open for us. The French are of the opinion that the American people are misrepresented in their government, as the citizens of representative republics sometimes are; but they have an abiding faith that the desire of our people to aid in the establishment of an international league of justice will prove strong enough to break down all political opposition.

By failing to join the League of Nations at its inception we have lost a part of the fruits of victory. If the President continues in his stern determination to force the peace treaty into the coming political campaign, we run a grave risk of losing them all. Such a policy would be a betrayal of the glorious dead who fell on foreign fields fighting to establish the supremacy of justice over brute force.

When America declines to join the League and relies solely on her own strength to maintain her position among the free peoples of the world she, too, is standing as an adherent of the principle that might makes right. She is renouncing the ideals for which the world war was fought. It seems unbelievable that any large number of real Americans should advocate such a course. We must not close our eyes to the fact that she is rejoicing among the Bolsheviks in Russia and in the military parties in Germany and Japan that America is not a member of the League, while the countries whose gallant sons fought by the side of our own in the world war join in an expression of regret.

It is now proposed to go after the rent profiteers in this city. About the only way to get that crowd is for the people as a whole to refuse to stand for the hold-up. But they won't do it.

A million-dollar auditorium is none too pretentious for a million-people city. Let there be no delay.

AVALANCHE OF MONEY.

A Los Angeles is suffering, actually, literally suffering with moneyitis. Our banks are clogged with it; our financial arteries are threatened with a damming of the stream because the stream is not big enough to carry off the flow. Our strong boxes are bulging with riches. Was ever a greater city in such a plight before?

May we not, for a moment, claim the attention of New York, of Chicago, of Boston and the other great financial centers of the country, and may we not draw a comparison between our plentious abundance and the comparative penury of those places where rediscount rates have frequently to be raised to bring in the loans that they may be raised and made to butter as much bread as possible?

The average Times reader may be able to imagine a fate more horrid than being buried beneath an avalanche of greenbacks, but we do claim a new record for Los Angeles; a record which finds voice in an appeal from the midst of hales and bales of currency and goods as gold securities to open the path which leads to outer air and freer respiration.

In the old days before appendicitis became a habit and pneumonia was merely a congestion the patient was relieved by the letting of blood, and that is exactly what Los Angeles needs today. We are congested with money. Our circulation is impaired and we must find new outlets.

On January 1 there was on deposit in the banks of Los Angeles very nearly $400,000,000. This vast sum represents assets in their most liquid form, cash if you please, subject to the whim of the man and the woman behind the check book. Besides this there were and are uncounted millions in assets not quite so readily converted into bank notes, but still easily realized upon.

One of the best-known bankers in town claims that there really is no such thing as money except at the precise moment of spending. Money per se is a fiction. Actually it simply represents a power to buy.

The real trouble, as a matter of course, is not in the fact that there is so much money in Los Angeles, for Los Angeles needs all the money she can attract, but the danger is in the immobility of such vast sums. Beyond a certain point banks are not seeking excessive accumulations. A bank is merely the custodian of the wealth of others. Banks do not make their living because of the money Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Henry and Richard entrust to their keeping. Banks earn their board and keep through their loan departments. It's not the 3 or 4 per cent. paid to depositors, but the 5, 6 or 7 per cent. received for the use of the funds so entrusted.

And there is the rub. There is too much coming in and not enough going out. That is what makes the stagnation. That is where the financial doctor with his scalpel is needed. Banks are required by law as well as by their own keen wits working through expert and far-seeing officials to be sure that every loan is fully protected. Under modern banking methods there is very little guesswork about a bank loan. The bank won't lose, nor once in a coon's age, but that very fact restricts their loans to a certain well-defined path.

For instance, a bank will not loan working capital. The borrower must have something to bank on. A bank will not loan on more than 60 per cent. of bills receivable, but The Times believes it is stating a fact when it says that many banks in Los Angeles would give greater welcome to an opportunity to loan $100,000 today on an approved security than it would to receive $140,000 for deposit.

During the past year business has been so good, and profits and profiteering so prolific, that thousands of firms, corporations and individuals who formerly depended upon the banks and other loan agencies to maintain their credit line have withdrawn from the borrowers' windows and financed their own requirements. This money remained in the banks to find other outlet.

It is stated by high authority that during the span of a few years the excess of mortgages paid over new paper issued in Los Angeles has been approximately $65,000,000. If this is true, another main artery has been contracted by just so much. This money has remained in hand to find other outlet.

Property values, urban and farm, have increased probably out of proportion to the ultimate increase in profits, but for the present these profits have been so enormous that they have warranted the price asked for the land, and thus millions and millions have been devoted to taking up long-standing mortgages on farm property. This is one of the lender's greatest outlets, and this money has remained in the banks to find placement elsewhere.

On top of this stocks have paid dividends which, never paid dividends before. Earnings in every line have been far above normal, and a certain percentage of these millions found their way into the reserve where they help along the stagnation and, finally, it seems to the hard-working men at the receiving teller's windows as though every man, woman and child east of the Rockies with more than $100 has been added straight for Los Angeles and added his board to our rapidly-accumulating pile.

There is no way of estimating the total of this tourist flow of gold, but here is a lonesome little statistic that may give us pause. In one bank in the city of Los Angeles the average number of new accounts opened daily has been for several weeks over 1,000. ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY. That is in one bank, mind you, and there are twenty-six banks in this city, although of course a majority of them do not approach such a record. Try to imagine what 1000 new accounts every day, or even 500 new accounts, mean in adding to this slow-moving pile. We are exactly in the position of the young man who was all dressed up with no place to go.

The financiers of Los Angeles are facing today one of the greatest problems of the city's economic life. They must find outlet for our wealth, but this outlet must be safe, sure and safe. Texas oil wells won't do for funds in trust. The public has made marked progress in investment fields since the war. The man with comparatively small means has learned the difference between a 5 per cent. municipal bond and a 12 per cent. perhaps gold mine. The public is investing many millions without the intermediary of the banker, but when everybody saw fair Emma leave our shores and crabs was fastened on her lid; who talked too much, as Emma did. She stood upon the vessel's prow, what time the siren gave three hoots, and shrieked to us, "I leave you now, but I'll come back you bet your boots!" Alas, it was an idle threat, though hurled at us with force and vim; the ocean's deep and wide and wet, and poor old Emma cannot swim. Thus sailed away a brazen dame who might have ranked among the great and figured in our Hall of Fame, had she but had her name and address. She turned and went around denouncing things and telling people they were slaves, the bondmen of the money kings and other plutocratic knaves. Her whole existence was a knock, she had the morals of a dip; and now, because she couldn't walk, she crossed the ocean in a ship. We couldn't shoo her off this shore, but we did shoo her off this shore, which brought her home again. So fare thee well, oh, Emma dear, may you keep fat in other lands; we're tired of locoed ladies here, who talk of bombs and burning brands.

EMMA GOLDMAN.

I saw fair Emma leave our shores and crabs was fastened on her lid; who talked too much, as Emma did. She stood upon the vessel's prow, what time the siren gave three hoots, and shrieked to us, "I leave you now, but I'll come back you bet your boots!" Alas, it was an idle threat, though hurled at us with force and vim; the ocean's deep and wide and wet, and poor old Emma cannot swim. Thus sailed away a brazen dame who might have ranked among the great and figured in our Hall of Fame, had she but had her name and address. She turned and went around denouncing things and telling people they were slaves, the bondmen of the money kings and other plutocratic knaves. Her whole existence was a knock, she had the morals of a dip; and now, because she couldn't walk, she crossed the ocean in a ship. We couldn't shoo her off this shore, but we did shoo her off this shore, which brought her home again. So fare thee well, oh, Emma dear, may you keep fat in other lands; we're tired of locoed ladies here, who talk of bombs and burning brands.

PASTOR SCORES MUSHY SONGS.

Too many mushy songs and a preponderance of feminine school-teachers are reasons for the need of military training, according to Dr. W. C. Barton, pastor of the First Congregational Church at Oak Park, who addressed the Methodist ministers at their regular weekly meeting in the First Methodist Church.

"We at least need schools where our boys can get in touch more with men," said Dr. Barton. "For that reason, military training may be necessary. A preponderance of women in the schools and the attitude of mothers about mothers have been responsible for too little regard for manhood among our boys. The influence is being felt in religious matters also."—[Chicago News.]

DESERTS OF RUSSIA.

BY A. HIEBLE.

When the flames of the world war broke out Russia did not hesitate to throw her weight on the scale for justice and liberty. In the face of Germany's revenge she entered the conflict against Prussian militarism, against an autocracy that threatened to engulf the world. Russia's patriotism made possible the assembling of great forces long before Germany was ready for them, and Austria, which was to check Russia in the meanwhile, was unable to stem the Russian impetus. Thus Germany was forced to recall some of her armies from the western front, her plans in France came to naught, and Joffre was able to halt the invaders at the Marne.

The March revolution of 1917 brought about the fall of the hated Czar regime. The nation breathed a sigh of relief, but the freedom was short-lived. The provisional government, taking up the reins of the new republic, saw itself confronted with an enormous task. A totally disorganized army defended a line of 1600 miles, and in this task the rear was the revolutionary elements prepared to re-establish their lost power, while their antipodes, extremists of the left, showed an alarming activity. The coup d'état of November, 1917, placed the power in Lenin's hand. He quickly perceived that his best weapon was the organization of the mob. The Bolsheviks proved themselves masters in combining the presentation of a clean-cut, simplified social ideal with a powerful appeal to the impulses of suspicion and hate. Led by the cold and stubborn fanatic, Lenin, and the clever adventurer, Trotsky, the Bolsheviks solved the problem of power in a reckless and simplified manner of their own. They captured the soldiers, they won over the sailors, they broke away from the uneven fight, by the promise of immediate peace; they attracted the peasants by the promise of immediate socialization of land, and the workingmen by the promise of immediate establishment of labor control in the factories. This was the reason why the Bolsheviks, as a party, became dominant, gained control over the proletariat. Once master of the situation, Lenin proceeded to carry out his social experiments. His aim was and is to bring about a world revolution, to destroy by force the present social conditions. Russia, naturally, was his first objective. What had been the result? Starvation, misery, homelessness, prostitution, crime, the masses of an unhappy people dying everywhere, burning cities, children dying by thousands, epidemic, horrors unspeakable—this is the result of Russia's "Heaven of Socialism."

New volunteer armies have sprung up in the west, the center and the far east, and they are united with Kolchak to save their country from moral and material ruin and to give the people an opportunity to establish their destinies according to their choice. The task is enormous. If Germany succeeds in dismembering Russia and in destroying her internal institutions, the Allies will be faced themselves with a terrible menace, the triumph of Germany and Bolshevik Russia, that so gallantly sacrificed more than 8,000,000 of its best sons on the altar of the Allied cause, has apparently been deserted and left to its fate. Can we remain indifferent? Kolchak took it upon himself to make Russia a nation of Russians alone; he is fighting the common foe of social freedom and order. Shall we, like Russia, unprepared, fall a victim to those dark forces that are undermining the nation's foundation? All of us, whether natives or foreign-born, white or colored, men or women, have

FIRES SHOT AT MEXICAN.

Immigration Inspector Fails to Stop Fleeing Soldier.

Census Report to Show Valley Towns' Growth.

Noted Naturalist a Visitor at Calexico.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) CALIFORNIA, Jan. 16.—Immigration Inspector Lincoln was compelled, yesterday morning, to fire three shots at Mexican dressed in uniform, who insisted on crossing the American line, despite the fact that he was warned that he could not do so early in the morning. None of the shots took effect and the Mexican made his escape into United States territory.

COUNT EVERY RESIDENT. Work of enumerating the population of Imperial Valley is fast nearing an end. Each city in the valley is conducting an independent census to see that every resident is counted.

Calexico is reported to have enumerated a number far in excess of the last count of 1910, and San Quintin is planning on a "second enumeration day" next Monday, at which time the Chamber of Commerce will aid in counting all the immigrants.

Preliminary estimates place the population of El Centro at about 2000 and the population of Calexico at approximately 10,000. This is the exact number of Mexicans and the thousands who reside in the city.

RUBRUGGHE VISITS VALLEY.

John Burroughs, known internationally as one of America's foremost naturalists, essayists and writers, is visiting the valley from the gates of Miss Virginia Serrano of San Diego and La Jolla. He is making a brief tour of the section, taking in particularly the southern portion.

The venerable philosopher is 82 years of age and still full of life and hearty. His home on the banks of the Colorado River is a picture of the Picturesque of the world have been proud to pilgrimage to compare with the naturalist.

Mr. Burroughs also has a home in Mexico City, and this fall, after predicting a hard winter, because of the habits of various birds, fled himself to California as rapidly as possible.

GIRLS BOOST DELIVERY.

Members of the Business Girls' Club of Brawley have taken up with enthusiasm the matter of obtaining signatures for a delivery. They will visit the various business houses and obtain signatures there and then will invade the residential districts. Postmistress Estelle Thompson, who has been in office since the war, the increase in population will weigh with the postal authorities in Washington and that an up-to-date delivery is now a possibility.

COLLEGE BUILDING DAMAGED BY FIRE.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) REDLANDS, Jan. 16.—The chapel building of the University of Redlands, a temporary frame building, which was erected a year ago, was damaged by fire this morning. The roof of the building was gutted by the flames and the roof badly burned.

The fire department had trouble in getting enough hose to reach the building, so the condemned damages were done before any water was thrown. The fire was started by a coke-oven burner stove, which became so hot that the door was set afire.

White smoke of the department was at first a spark flew in an open barrel of oil at the gas plant and caused a fire in the pump room, the flames gutting it, but being confined to that room. J. Fitzgerald was badly burned about the face and hands.

FAVOR NEW BUILDING.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) VISALIA, Jan. 16.—In a report, which sets a new record for brevity, the 1920 Tax commissioners commanded officers of the county for their excellent work and all county institutions were declared an efficient basis.

The report, which covered but a few typewritten pages, lays stress upon the need for a new Hall of Justice, and the commissioners have been encouraged and recommends that such a building be constructed upon property recently purchased for that purpose.

GONE ARE BONDS AND HUBBY, TOO.

SECOND MARRIAGE VENTURE LEADS TO LOSS AND DISAPPOINTMENT.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) FRESNO, Jan. 16.—Foster Brown, son of the late Dr. W. L. Brown, of Oakdale, north of here, is mourning the loss of $1800 in Liberty Bonds, while his mother, the widow of the late Dr. Brown, is mourning the loss of $450 in the same sort of security, and also a husband whom she married in Los Angeles, three months ago. In the meantime the police have been asked to find Edgar Allen Wells, the husband in question, who it is believed has the missing Liberty Bonds.

Dr. Brown, a Los Angeles physician located in Oakdale four years ago, because he wanted to give up his practice in the other cities and retire from active life. When the war broke out and the local physicians joined the army, the doctor, then seventy odd years, opened offices there and built up a large practice.

He died in Los Angeles a year ago. The couple celebrated their wedding anniversary in Oakdale, and it was somewhat of a surprise when the announcement was received of the widow's marriage a few months ago, to Edgar Allen Wells, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Brown and her new husband came to Oakdale two weeks ago for a visit with her son, and she remained while her husband went to Denver on business. She has arranged to meet him in their Hollywood home about ten days ago, but he failed to appear there, having instead, with the son Foster, and while there told the boy that he was sending his surplus cash into Liberty Bonds to be settled upon the boy's mother. Her brother paid him back for $1800 worth of bonds, while Foster had received from his father's estate.

The following day, after Wells had gone to Stockton, he received a message from his brother in Los Angeles to beware of the new stepmother. He called upon the bank upon which the check was drawn, to be told that it was drawn by his son, Foster.

It was learned that Mrs. Brown, who had given her husband $450 worth of bonds, had returned to her home in Oakdale, and with Wells, decided to return. The house had been rented and there was a considerable amount left over.

Brown notified the police of his loss and an effort is being made to locate Wells.

MONEY IN POULTRY.

Tulare Association Does Biggest Business in History.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) PORTERVILLE, Jan. 16.—Business totaling nearly one-half of a million dollars was done by the Tulare Co-operative Poultry Association, according to reports which will be filed with the directors at their annual meeting on Saturday. A total of 600 cases of eggs were marketed, with a total value to the producers of $130,000.

December business of the association was $25,425, a total of about $48,000 in excess of the business for the same month in 1919.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the association has been called for February 2.

BARRELS OF JOY NOW IN MEXICO.

Custom Officials Work up to Last Minute.

Mexicali Storehouses Filled with Booze.

Many Carloads Come Too Late, Say Officers.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) CALEXICO, Jan. 16.—National prohibition became effective in California with customs inspectors endeavoring to hurriedly inspect and pass carload after carload of liquor which has been shipped with all possible haste to the border, according to Mexicali. Across the line the glasses clinked merrily and will continue to do so.

Floods of bottled and barrelled anisus, product of American distilleries, winehous and breweries, have been pouring into the port of Calexico, and, after a temporary halt here, flowing on again until they reach the storage houses of Mexicali, having been consigned to various dealers and others, who held their possessions until the Supreme Court of the United States rendered its decision a few days ago on the constitutionality of the Volstead Act.

Then, realizing that they could not dispose of the goods in the United States, and that the laws prevented them from expatriating and shipping abroad, after midnight of January 14, they began to hustle it to the nearest border of the country, hoping to get it into a country where it could be disposed of.

OFFICIAL CHANGES AT SOLDIERS' HOME.

(ONE DAY REPRISE.)

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) SOLDIERS' HOME, Jan. 16.—The following important announcement appears in General Orders No. 4, just belated: "Capt. Charles E. Pleg, having been appointed by the President of the board of managers, N.H.D.V.E., adjutant and inspector of the Pacific branch—to date from January 16, 1920—will Capt. Frank E. Shatto, appointed treasurer of Southern branch (Virginia), is hereby assigned to duty."

Capt. Pleg, a Spanish War veteran, who has for the last four years occupied the position of adjutant and inspector and in that place, acquired a familiar knowledge of the duties of his new office, that will help him to early familiarity therewith. For ten years Capt. Pleg has employed the services of the Pacific Electric Railway Company. He will be succeeded as governor's secretary by L. R. Watson, also a Spanish War veteran, who formerly chief clerk in the office of the quartermaster of this branch.

BANKS PROSPEROUS.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) PORTERVILLE, Jan. 16.—Porterville banks practically doubled their deposit accounts during 1919, according to statements just filed with the state auditor of the currency. Combined resources of the local institutions are now approaching $5,000,000, with total deposits of over $2,000,000.

PORTER'S NEW STATIONERY.

December business of the association was $25,425, a total of about $48,000 in excess of the business for the same month in 1919.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the association has been called for February 2.

tom-house amounts to considerably more than the value of the goods.

CARLOADS ON THIS WAY.

From advice that we have received," said Customs Inspector Brown, "this morning, I find that a lot of liquor probably several carloads, will arrive by freight or express, since it comes both ways. Under the conditions of the time, I don't know what disposition will be made of that, but since the internal revenue department's instructions are to allow no liquor of any kind to be exported from the United States after the time limit expires, all that comes then will be held subject to the department's orders."

VETERANS SWAT CHAMP.

Fighter Who Didn't Fight Comes in for Ridicule.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) RIVERSIDE, Jan. 16.—Banishment from the United States of Bolsheviks, anarchist and I.W.W.ism, was advocated by the American Legion, on the occasion of its first banquet last night, was applauded by the echo by the members and their guests.

A standing vote also placed the public record as opposed to any publication which may have promoted it behind John Dempsey, who, it was contended, had two years in which to enlist in the army or navy and failed to do so.

AMONG THE SPEAKERS WERE W. H. Ellis, Lyman Evans and Judge

Hugh H. Craig of the Superior Court, the latter electrifying his hearers with the following appeal:

"Followers of the fine old principles for which you stand. The American Legion is and will continue to be for many years the bulwark of our country. I appeal to you to continue the war against anarchy and to demand patriotism to our government in every day life."

GIRL BADLY BURNED.

Flames from Gasoline Stove Ignite Clothing.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

POMONA, Jan. 16.—Little hope is held out for the recovery of Mary Banta, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Banta of 472 West Eighth street, this city, who was terribly burned this morning when her clothing was ignited by the flames of a gasoline stove.

Her father and mother also sustained painful burns in the attempt to extinguish the flaming clothing of the girl.

She was taken to the Pomona Valley Hospital, where she was attended by Dr. T. Hardy Smith. The latest word is that girl's condition was apparently critical, as there was hardly an inch of her body and limbs that was not seared by the flames. Her clothing was practically burned to a cinder, but her body was practically uninjured.

Her parents succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

LET THE PUBLIC JUDGE

Thos. H. Ince's Stupendous Production

"BEHIND THE DOOR," which will be presented at the Million Dollar Theater, Monday, is going to cause serious comment from a political, domestic and ethical viewpoint.

WIVES will wonder whether husbands are justified in doing what HOBART BOSWORTH did to Lieutenant Stewart.

HUSBANDS may or may not, according to their individual temperaments, feel that home-breakers are entitled to such drastic treatment.

DISGUSTING HE-VAMPS will probably think twice about whose wife or daughter they attempt to fascinate, after seeing the fate of the man.

"BEHIND THE DOOR!" —SID CRAUMAN.

No Wrinkles
at Forty

WRINKLES tell other how old you are. They destroy a woman's youthful looks before she knows it.

These dreadful lines can be avoided and removed with little trouble and slight expense. Just try this simple formula:

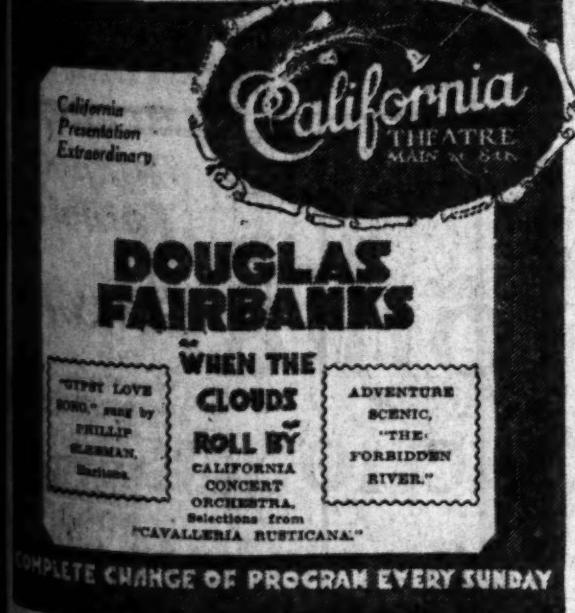

"A little CREME ELAYA under the eyes and nose, a tiny dab of cream on the cheek to set dry and make the skin like velvet. Your doctor has ELAYA and he said it's for you. Ask him."

Own Your Own Home

Live in Health, Comfort and Happiness in the Southland.

Own Your Own Home

"The first sure symptom of a mind in health, is rest of heart and pleasure felt at home."

There are so many logical reasons why a man should own a home that the wonder is any man should hesitate in acquiring some kind of a house and as much land as possible.

To own your own home is just plain horse-sense—a long step in the right direction because it starts you on the road to prosperity and opens delightful avenues of contentment and satisfaction where your vision of life's possibilities is intensified and the joy of living is multiplied by the blessings that naturally follow you.

And if haply you have children of a tender age, the reasons for owning your own home become imperative needs, for it is the rightful heritage of every child to grow up in an "own-home" environment.

But you need more than a yard and a house and furniture to make a successful home—you should have the right kind of furniture and furnishings to create beautiful and harmonious surroundings for your dear ones to live with.

Do not underestimate the importance of harmonizing appointments in your home—the successful home is not a matter of dollars and cents, but of atmosphere.

The House of Barker Bros. is at your service—over 1400 home-making enthusiasts ready to help make YOURS a successful home. We can show you many little bways of home-furnishing that are short cuts to economy—ways in which you can save money without diminishing in the slightest degree the triumph of your results.

Just a Few Reasons
WHY You Should Acquire a

Home of Your Own"

Experts say the demand, for a long time to come, will far exceed the supply.

Also, in their opinion, building materials will not come down—indications to the contrary are that there will be a rise.

Present high rentals probably have no precedent. If you build a home to live in you will save a great deal of rental money. If you build for investment, the interest on your investment will be much greater than the same money can possibly earn in other channels.

Attractive Bungalow Home.

House Description and Floor Plans.
This unusually attractive house, plans for which were prepared by the Lumbermen's Service Association, room 609, Fay Building, has been built in the style of the English cottage, with exterior surfaces of wood. The plan is especially adaptable as a country lot. No. 306 floor plan provides two bedrooms and is, therefore, more convenient for the family children, while No. 305, with a single bedroom, offers a slight advantage in the matter of more economical construction. While the house as shown was planned for frame construction, it may be built either of brick or hollow tile.

PRIZE OFFERS STILL HOLD.
There is a Chance Yet to Win Award for "Home-Owning" Letter.

"Business may fall—stocks tumble—riches take sudden wings—but home endures forever!" This expression comes from the communication of one of the contestants in the Times' "Why I Should Own My Own Home" contest, indicates the writer's strong belief in the wisdom of home ownership. Letters couched in similar terms continue to reach the contest editor, showing clearly that hundreds of Los Angeles persons have quit the ranks of the renters and made a home possible for themselves.

And while the letters continue to come, the end of the contest draws near. Saturday, January 24, has been fixed as the day when the race for the attractive list of prizes, cash and household materials offered by The Times and a number of progressive Los Angeles merchants and individuals will be decided. The letters will be examined carefully and their merits judged impartially, and on Saturday, January 31, the winners' names will be announced.

There is still time to enter a prize letter—one of 500 words or less. It should be written legibly or better still, typewritten, and addressed to "The Times' 'Why I Should Own My Own Home' Contest, Box 172." The Times will not yet write your letter, but you may do it yourself tomorrow, gather the family around and pen the thoughts that seem best to fit the subject. This little effort may win you any one of the twelve prizes. They are worth $100. You may win one of the cash prizes or, if not that, at least another prize of value.

Make up your mind to write today. Here is the list of prizes:

The Times—First prize, $25 cash.

The Times—Second prize, $15 cash.

The Times—Third prize, $10 cash.

LOS ANGELES BUILDERS AND PRIVATE INVESTORS, the reports of the city building department showing that new houses are going up almost everywhere in every part of the city and suburbs. The announcement this week of another increase in the cost of several lines of lumber, including rough lumber, has not yet caused a perceptible halt in construction operations, although a lessening of frame construction is expected shortly in certain quarters.

Building permits have been issued for the following dwellings: To O. J. DeMars, two bungalows at 225 and 229 North Kingsley drive, $4000 each; to Frank C. McElroy, single dwelling on West Seventy-seventh and Seventy-eighth streets, total $21,900; to A. E. J. Chivers, bungalow at 1202 North Raymond avenue, $6000; to Sam F. FARMERS HIT JAPANESE.

Total Exclusion is Advocated by County Bureau's Investigators.

At the board of directors' meeting of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, at the Courthouse, yesterday, the report of its standing committee on the Japanese menace was received.

This committee, which has been working on this problem for some months, recommended the total exclusion of Japanese, for the reason: "The Japanese, in California, are increasing rapidly and will always remain an alien element in our midst, creating a race problem of ever-increasing difficulty; and because the Japanese are unfair competitors to Americans engaged in the same industries, owing to their use of unpaid female and child labor."

The committee reported also, placing the farms on record as opposed to Japanese being permitted, either directly or indirectly, to lease, rent or own agricultural lands, or own any lands whatsoever.

There were also recommendations in favor of an amendment to Section 1, Article XXV of the Federal Constitution, providing that no child born in the United States of foreign parents shall be considered an American citizen unless both parents are of a race eligible to citizenship; and further, the committee reported itself as being opposed to the immediate action.

Dr. J. G. Biller of Spadra, chairman of the committee, gave a very interesting report of the findings of the committee. The matter will be left in the wayward hands of the committee to decide, but it is proposed to line up solidly all the farm bureaus in California in an effort to Federal action.

NEW TRIAL DENIED.

Judge Willis yesterday denied a motion for a new trial for A. R. Majors, recently convicted on a charge of second degree burglary, Pacific School of Fine Diseases.

Majors, who was defense agent for the defense, gave notice of an appeal to the judgment of the court, and the case was con-
